On Saturday morning, I got a phone call from an old school friend, and I enjoyed lunch with her in the afternoon. She was one of my best friends in high school, but she moved to Los Angeles for work. She told me about her job in Los Angeles. It sounded really interesting. She works for a movie company, and she has to find places to make movies – you know, places like restaurants, hotels, parks, and streets.

音声 : What did the speaker do on Saturday afternoon?

<スクリプト 2>

I went to my friend's birthday party on Friday night. Usually, I don't enjoy going to birthday parties because we often have to play strange games. But, at this party, I really enjoyed other activities. When somebody played dance music, everyone enjoyed dancing. Well, actually I didn't dance with them because I am not good at dancing... but I met a lot of people at the party, and they were all interesting. I talked with them and it was a lot of fun.

音声 : What did the speaker enjoy at the party?

I wanted to learn about school life in America, so I joined a study abroad program in high school. At first, living in America was hard. I didn't know how to take the bus or train. I felt nervous when I introduced myself in classes because I didn't have confidence. The biggest challenge was the language. People said something, but I could only understand some parts.

One day, my friends and I went to see a movie. We got our tickets and still had some time, so we decided to eat something. The restaurant was crowded, so we had to wait for a long time. We ran back to the theater, but the movie already started. I tried to explain the situation to a theater worker, but I couldn't find the right words. I kept saying, "You have to ..." but the worker didn't understand me. Tears fell from my eyes. At that moment, I decided to study English harder and become a good speaker.
